Have you ever thought about angel investing or do you have clients that have asked about angel investing ?

A call has been put out for more angel investors to come forward in the UK as new research has shown that business angels are now the key source of investment for early stage companies

The BBA is working with established angel networks, including OION, TVIN and OEI, to engage the support of local business organisations, finance and wealth managers, as well as professional advisors, who can help identify individuals with the right profile to become angel investors.

If you or your clients are interested in finding out more about providing early stage risk capital to SMEs and the potential to invest in the successful innovators of tomorrow, then come and speak to active angel investors and find out how and why they do it.
